Marion, North Carolina

Foreword

This is the time of our lives! Although we may not realize it, we have fewer responsibilities, fewer worries, more free time, and more good times during our four years in highschool than at any other time in our lives. Through the 1957 "Hylander" we wish to give you a record of how you spend o day in Marion High School.

You are rudely awakened at 7:03 by an olarm clack. Yaur day has begun!

Board of Education

Seated: Mr. Eugene Cross, Mr. Joseph Noyes, Chairman; Mrs. Walker Blanton, Mr. Robert Twitty. Standing: Mr. Robert James, Mr. Hugh Beam, City Superintendent, Mr. Earl Godfrey.

Long before you walk into the doors at 8:30, preparation has been made for your coming. A dedicated group of Marion citizens has spent long hours of thought and study to determine your needs and ways to meet these needs.

Because the Marion City School Board and Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Hugh Beam, have led the way in meeting our needs and the needs of future students of Marion High School in the provision of a million-dollar building for our use, we, the Hylander Club, dedicate the 1957 "Hylander" to them.

Time for School

The school day begins at 8:30 and most of the time you are there to begin with it. However, in this case, you are slightly tardy, Som. The principal, Mr. Charles Elledge, is giving you a tardy slip accompanied by a word of warning and Mrs. Eunice Pyatt, secretary to the principal, is looking up your permanent record to record this little incident.

Time for Class

Eight thirty and time for class. And what varied classes you have! One authority, Mr. Elledge, says that it would take eleven years to study all the courses offered here.

Let's take a tour of this wonderful five-acre building and see just what is taught here. Be prepared to take off your shoes in the gym, protect yourself in the chemistry lab, and dodge trombone slides in the music department. After your tour, you will probably think Mr. Elledge is right.

Mathematics

Mrs. Davis explains some fine points of algebra to her first year class.

Time is an important element in math; you learn quickly. Time is equal to distance divided by rate. Or is it the other way around? At any rate, quite a bit of your homework time throughout your four years will be spent on Math, taught by Miss Alley; first and second year algebra, taught by Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Kate Finley, who also teaches plane and solid geometry. If you still haven't exhausted your capacity for figuring, try Miss Alley's senior course, college algebra and trigonometry.

Our Mathematicians—Mrs. Kate Finley, Mrs. Edith Davis, Miss Catherine Alley

Practical applications of geometry are demonstrated in interesting ways in Mrs. Kate Finley's geometry classes.

Science

Mrs. Marie Hudick shows a geology specimen to her general science class.

"Oscar" is the subject of discussion in Mrs. Patty Finley's biology class.

"Will it explode?" is the usual question when Mrs. Dat Lonon experiments in the Chemistry Lab. One time, unexpectedly, it did!

You want to keep in step with the Atomic Age, so you take advantage of the science courses. You begin with general science, taught by Mrs. Lonon and Mrs. Hudick. A little bit stiffer is Mrs. Finley's biology, your sophomore year. Chemistry and physics, taught by Mrs. Lanon, make you feel adequately prepared to change the world--in time.

Foreign Languages

You can always recognize one of Miss Catherine Alley's Latin students. He walks with his head in a thick blue or red book and murmurs "Te cano patria", or some other unrecognizable phrase. He always distinguishes himself in an English Class by knowing retained, adverbial, and direct objects.

"Que voulez-vous faire ce matin?" Yes, you have just passed one of Mrs. Marguerite Gilkey's French students who is trying to imitate the accent used on the French records.

Library

"The Battle of Noise" is constantly fought by Miss Mildred Glenn, librarian. Unfortunately, the atmosphere of the spacious, booklined room seems more conducive to conversation than to study.

English

From Sandburg to Shakespeare, from subjects to split infinitives, we are guided by our English teachers. A necessary but never ending job, teaching 600 students to use their own language. As freshmen you had Mrs. Laughridge; sophomore, Mrs. Brown; junior, Mrs. Elledge and Miss Coffey; and senior, Mr. Carter.

"Lay on, McDuff." Seniors study Macbeth with Mr. Carter.

79

Even our English instructors disagree on the comma before and! How can we hope to learn?

Laughridge, Carter, Brown, Coffey, Elledge

Journalism

Layout, the five "w's", deadline, headline, are familiar lingo in the journalism classes taught by Miss Coffey and Mrs. Elledge. You learn that your morning newspaper is really quite a complicated affair.

Miss Coffey scans a "Marionette" with journalism students.

Home Economics

MRS. FLORA HOMEWOOD

A sample of what homemaking will be is offered in Mrs. Flora Homewood's home economics classes. Cooking, sewing, furniture refinishing, and budgeting are a few of the arts of the home which you can learn under her expert guidance.

Manual Arts

MR. BILL SILVER

Do you like to make things with your hands and see the result of your learning? Then the shop classes directed by Mr. Silver are what you should have on your schedule.

Physical Education

The gym, scene of great games and sock hops, is also the scene of boys' physical ed.

From big yellow books and Mrs. Hudick, freshmen girls learn how to be healthy.

Even physical education has desk work for teachers Mr. McElrath, Mrs. Hudick, Mr. Ditt.

Driver Education

Physical Education - Exercise, exercise, you must take your exercise. Whether you like it or not, you must take health and physical education. But, fortunately, the excellent teachers, Mrs. Hudick, Mr. McElrath, and Mr. Ditt, make what could be drudgery into an interesting and varied class. Where else could you learn to play soccer, hand ball, and ground tennis?

Driver Education is an effort to keep you alive for your allotted time. Mr. Ditt, with the help of audio-visual aids, instructs prospective drivers in the elements of good and safe driving. A new Chevrolet, furnished by Ballew Motor Company, is used in practical application of what you've learned

Commercial

Turning haphazard teenagers into efficient business women is the job for Mrs. Morris and Miss Keeter in the commercial department. You are surprised and somewhat hurt that it is impossible to chew gum and type at the same time. But, by the time you reach shorthand and general business, you've become an alert, adult secretary.

Typing

Hours of stencil cutting, typing, and proof reading, precede memographing. Miss Laura Keeter and Mrs. Emily Morris provide a two-woman printing service for the school.

Mrs. Morris discovers some typists writing such peculiar words as "asef" and "fkl."

Shorthand

Shorthand students are taught by Miss Keeter that little wiggly lines mean words.

Social Studies

Mr. Martin points out the locus of a revolutionary war battle to a U.S. History Class.

From Columbus to Korea we must cover. Can our brains take it?

What makes countries and people "tick"? In social studies we learn the answers. United States History, taught by Mr. Martin, is required. Electives are Civics and World History, taught by Miss Thelma Yelton, and Social Economics, which Mr. Martin teaches on an informal and personal level.

A bulletin board showing the major civilizations is in Miss Yelton's World History Class.

Music

Mixed Chorus

The music in your life is furnished by Mr. Bernard Hirsch. Band requires a great amount of time and effort, but each one who plays an instrument feels that it is worth it. Voices of the chorus are blended and raised second period every morning both for the satisfaction of those participating and the pleasure of the entire community in listening.

MR. HIRSCH
Director

Time for Activities

Activity period from 11:10 until 11:40 just never seems to be long enough. How the time flies when you are working on a debate speech or writing an article for the newspaper! Developing a prized snapshot seems much more important than working equations.

Marion High School offers varied activities in which you may take part. Each is sponsored by a faculty member and meets at a scheduled time and place during activity period.

The clubs are grouped under three main divisions. They are the service clubs, which render school and community service, the training clubs, which train students for some special role in future, and the honor clubs, which recognize outstanding students in all parts of school life.

Until you have been active in at least one of the activities offered, you have not taken full advantage of Marion High School.

Student Council

The Student Council, governing body of the school, handles the ticket sales at all athletic events as an annual project. It also sponsors clean-up campaigns and other projects for the improvement of the school.

The officers this year are Ann Burnett, president; Bill Morgan, vice-president; Raydee Wyatt, secretary; and Eugene Robbins, treasurer. Mrs. John Gilkey is the faculty advisor.

In March they served as host to the Western District of the North Carolina Student Council Congress.

Bus Drivers

Floyd Hensley, Everette Cable, Jay Whisnant, Joe Allman, Charles Benge

The safety record of these bus drivers is admirable, and they are also noted for their promptness and dependability. Mr. Elleage acts as sponsor for this organization.

Office Workers

Seated: Mary Ruth Gordon, Mildred Shook. Standing: Margaret Bradley, Pat Holland, Jolene Moore, Peggy Tucker, Merttie Cannon, Carolyn McBee, Becky Epley, Elizabeth Rabon.

The Key Club has for many years been the principal service club in Marion High. The membership is 33 boys and Mr. Emerson Carter serves as advisor. Annual projects undertaken by the club are the magazine sale, helping needy families, collecting toys for Alexander Home and other unscheduled projects undertaken throughout the year.

Civitan Club

President, Travis Jackson; Vice-President, Larry Young; Secretary, Lee Morgan; Treasurer, Boyce Pool; Chaplain, Larry Rabon; Sergeant-at-Arms, Wayne Westall.

The Civitan Club of Marion organized a junior branch in Marion High School in 1955. Since that time, due to the rapid growth of this organization, it has been divided into two groups: the Junior Civitan Club, sponsored by Mr. Bill Silver, and the Civinette Club, sponsored by Miss Thelma Yelton.

To raise the standards of citizenship in Marion High School is the main objective, but serving others through giving is another important part of Civitan work. Money to use for projects is raised by the sale of fruit cakes.

Library Assistants

This organization is made up of girls who assist Miss Glenn in the school library. The girls' main jobs are to keep order and to issue books, but they also assist in a number of other ways. Each assistant is familiar with the library's filing system and knows where every type book is located.

Marionette Staff

The school paper, the Marionette, has as its staff, members of the student body elected every year by the students. There are usually six editions of the paper a year. Money for the printing of the Marionette is acquired by the selling of ads or a special activity sponsored by the staff.

The Marionette is like a city newspaper in that it contains all the features of the larger paper but in modified form. It has its headline story and occasionally is fortunate enough to get a scoop. The editorial and sports pages are also to be found in every issue.

Time for Training

Officers of the French Club, Mary Ruth Gordon, secretary; Jane Story, president; Sara Morrow, vice-president; and Bobby Reid, treasurer, amuse themselves with puppets and a theater in the French fashion.

French Club

Today in a million dollar high school, the students realize the importance of education and many students plan to become teachers. These students join the Future Teachers of America in order to begin their training as early as possible.

Future Teachers of America is a branch of the National Education Association and its members are honorary members of that association. Leaders of the Future Teachers attend state meetings of the N.C.E.A. in Asheville each year.

Time for Classes

You have a fierce class pride, and why shouldn't you? You have the best class that's ever been at Marion High School!

Your classmates are your closest friends; you will have them throughout life. With them you share many experiences: class elections, parties, plays, classes, and, of course, graduation.

Four years is enough of high school life for Senior Class President Jerry Lavender. He's dreaming of taking a trip with Vice-President Travis Jackson and Secretary Mary Ruth Gordon. But where's Treasurer Jack Beam? Why, he's set out for ports unknown!

Time for dignity

Seniors

For twelve years we have worked and studied for that which we will soon receive--our diplomas. We have survived disappointments, heartbreaks, and failures; shared accomplishments, pleasures, and honors. Though some of us will leave Marion and others will stay, we will always look back to our wonderful school with pride and reflect our future honors and success upon it.

Juniors

We are the Juniors! As Freshmen we learned the procedures of high school life. Along with our attempts to catch on to the routine of studies and changing classes, we also enjoyed our new social life. The next year, as Sophomores, we were less awkward, and we had learned the tricks of the trade. Now, as Juniors, we are members of practically every club and are very active in all other organizations and activities. The Junior-Senior Banquet is a bright spot in our memories and will never be forgotten. Next year, when we are Seniors, we hope to graduate as the best class yet with many honors to our credit.

Time for "wise-fooling"

Sophomores

The time is 1956-57. The place is Marion's tremendous new high school. And we-we're the Sophomores. We've never had an inferiority complex, even as Freshmen. We have the largest class in the history of Marion High School!

With the help of our teachers and a lot of strain and strife on our part, we made it through our freshman year. We have several students who achieved high honors scholastically, and others proved to be outstanding athletes. Many of us were active in clubs and organizations. Others contributed to school service. Combining parties and other fun we had, our year was successful.

Now as Sophomores, we look back on last year with a sense of pride and joy. We all think that with our many outstanding individuals and the group as a whole, the class of '59 is bound to be the best ever.

Time for adjustments

Freshmen

On the first day we Freshmen were all overwhelmed by the beautiful school we were about to enter. We sat down in the auditorium half scared to death. Then Mr. Elledge assigned us to our home rooms. Our home room teachers were very nice and showed us around so we wouldn't get lost at first.

Pretty soon we felt that we were just one of the old school gang. Of course, we were still "little dogs", but everyone was so nice that we didn't think about being the youngest class in high school. When we did feel we were part of the school, we elected our class officers and our student council members.

We appreciate the way everyone has treated us this year and we hope that we may add to Marion High School just as you upper classmen have. Thanks for a good start!

Time for Athletics

Three o'clock and class is out! Time for you to "dress out" and put in two hours of hard play. If you are one of those who take part in Marian High School's varied athletic program, you have been enriched by physical training as well as training in the elements of sportsmanship and fair play.

Some of us are only spectators in athletics, but we get plenty of exercise jumping up and down on the bleachers and cheering the "Rippers" on to victory.

Spring Sports

The echoes of basketballs bouncing on the gym floor have died away and a trio of new sounds are taking their place. The crack of the bat meeting the ball, the thud of a tennis ball hitting a swinging racquet, the pounding of feet on the track are the sounds which our spring sports bring.

When the "Hylander" is completed, these sports have not begun; therefore complete team pictures are not possible. However, these are the players who participated in baseball, tennis, and track last year and with others will participate this year.

QUEEN MARY RUTH GORDON

The new Marion High gym was changed into a beautiful queen's court for the 1956 Homecoming Dance.

Our queen, Mary Ruth Gordon, appeared from a large pumpkin and took her place on the throne to reign over the dance. Her maid-of-honor, attendants, and football sponsors followed her out of the pumpkin.

The queen and her court opened the festivities by dancing the first dance.

Mary Ruth was crowned and her court was presented in festivities prior to the Homecoming football game.

Bed Time Again

We have given a sketch of how you spent a day during the year 1956-57. It was a year of ivy league back buckles, button-down callors and striped shirts. Elvis Presley song "Hound Dog" and "Don't Be Cruel" while you rocked and rolled enthusiastically in sock feet on the gym floor. Some of you were "queens" others were "pigs." The girls strove for the "Grace Kelly Look" while the boys presented a possible facsimile of "Jae College."

You made a big step on the road to maturity and you're tired so "Good Night."
